Training Category

Regulatory, Legal & Compliance: Understanding the laws and regulations incorporated in regulatory, legal and compliance environments are vital for private companies and government agencies of all sizes. Complying with all the laws and regulations governing an organization can be a colossal task. There is an exhaustive set of federal laws and regulations that is routinely updated or modified and often there is no uniformity between state laws. Without the right regulatory, legal and compliance training, the lack of employee knowledge could be an organization's worst liability. ProSidian provides training on topics including: conflicts of interest; sexual harassment policies; business ethics; Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA); Federal Contract Compliance Programs; Dodd-Frank; Lily Ledbetter Fair Pay Act; Employment Eligibility Verification (E-Verify); Electronic Communication Monitoring & Policy, and more.

Expected Training Outcome

"Through ProSidian training on Legal and Compliance Issues, each participant will gain an understanding/knowledge of Legal topics which influence their working environment. The desired outcome is the achievement of a skill by the participant that enables them to apply knowledge learned to improve and enhance compliance and proactive action regarding laws and regulations and perform work tasks within those environments more effectively while sharing new knowledge with subordinates, peers, and throughout work teams.
